Andersen

Andersen Frames embody many exclusive features. They meet the requirements of the most exacting architects and builders. Some of the new features are being patented. All of them help dealers make sales and permanent customers.

The Andersen Standard Frame made for frame buildings may now be easily adapted for stucco, brick veneer or masonry construction. Ask for the folder "One Standard Frame for Any Wall."

The new "Andersen" pulley is permanently noiseless and enduring.

Wide blind stop construction may now be supplied by inserting a piece of standard 4" D & M in the special groove in the blind stop. A rabbet is also provided for an inside ground casing. These and other weatherproof features are fully described in the Andersen Catalog No. 300.

FENESTRA

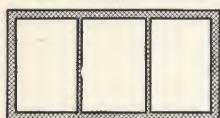

STEEL BASEMENT WINDOWS

Give from 65 % to 100 % more light than wood sash and frame of similar size, and FENESTRA actually costs less for the following reasons:

Wood Basement Win low

Fenestra Basement Window

$\frac{1}{3}$ the Labor. $\frac{1}{3}$ the Time

A FENESTRA Basement Window can be installed with one-third the labor, and in one-eighth the time required to install a wood window of equal size.

This is made possible: First, because FENESTRA Basement Windows are easier to handle and install; second, because they stand on the sill without bracing; third, because they come complete, locks and hinges are already attached, the sash is already fitted to the frame and the priming coat of paint is already applied.

Advantages

Never rot out — more light — fire proof
— easy to screen — never warp — more air
— easy to install
